
Hey you, I am a Junior UI/ Graphic Designer.

My name is Alejandro Bedoya and I am a proud Colombian designer who has lived in England for eight years before moving to Belgium two summers ago. I have a general passion for all things pretty, with a definite soft spot for typography. I love delicious food, catchy Latin music and browsing social media on my daily quests for brilliant graphic discoveries.

Experience

(2017- present) This year I spent my time working as a freelance UI/graphic designer, helping out in the creation of two new User Interface designs and the creation of wedding cards for a couple that got married back in July.

(2016- 2017) I have worked for Elium Academy in Brussels, which is a start-up business that helps people learning new skills (Mostly centred in NodeJS). Elium has been a great opportunity for me to learn more about front-end development and video editing. Also, as part of their team I have been in charge of a wide range of roles, from teaching graphic design and giving workshops to dealing with potential new clients.

Qualities

Organisation, I have earned a strong reputation for meeting deadlines, which is commented on continuously by my those around me. I pride myself on being the one others can count on, and enjoy working effectively.

Punctuality, with an inherited fear of being late (I am not one to adopt a “mañana” attitude, contrary to stereotyping!) I strive to be on time and dependable. At all times.

Team Work, It is in my nature to participate and collaborate in projects. The brainstorming part of any project is my absolute favourite, and I also believe in continuous feedback. I relish the opportunity to be part of creative communities and firmly believe that two minds think better than one.
